

Transparency Notice

Research Study Title: Risk stratification of Tuberculosis infection
IRAS No: 220913; EDGE: 99188; REC: 17/LO/1089

SUMMARY INFORMATION SHEET

We recently invited you to take part in the TB-RISK - Risk stratification of Tuberculosis infection research study, as a healthy volunteer. The study involved donating blood, nasal and/or lung fluid samples to use in research looking into tuberculosis (TB) infection of the lung. You are receiving this document because we have amended the “TB-RISK study: Participant Information Sheet” – Healthy Volunteers” that you received when we enrolled you in this study. The updated transparency notice below describes the way in which the information you provided, and the data generated from any samples you provided will be handled.

TRANSPARENCY NOTICE

In this research study, we will use information from you. We will only use information on that we need for the research study. We will let very few people know your name or contact details, and only if they really need it for this study. These people will include Imperial Research Team members and support staff.

Everyone involved in this study will keep the data collated as part of this study, including your personal data, safe and secure. We will also follow all privacy laws and legislation that are relevant to the specifics of the study.

At the end of the study we will save some of the data in case we need to check or for future research.

We will make sure no-one can work out who you are from the reports we write. The following information pack tells you more about this.

How will we use Information about you?

Research Study Title: Risk stratification of Tuberculosis infection
IRAS No: 220913; EDGE: 99188; REC: 17/LO/1089

Imperial College London is the sponsor for this study and will act as the Data Controller for this study. Being a Data Controller means that we are responsible for looking after your information and using it appropriately plus are responsible for explaining this to you. Imperial College London will keep your personal data for:

- 10 years after the study has finished in relation to data subject consent forms.

- 10 years after the study has completed in relation to primary research data.

The study is expected to finish on August 31st, 2026.

For more information/confirmation regarding the end date, please contact the study team. See 'WHERE CAN YOU FIND OUT MORE ABOUT HOW YOUR INFORMATION IS USED' for contact information.

We will need to use information (including personal data and data created as part of the study) from you for this research project.

This information will include your:

- Name
- DOB
- NHS Number/hospital number
- Contact details (email address)
- Bank details (for payment purposes)

People within the College and study team (see section 'Sharing your information with others') will use this information to do the research or to check your records (see information to be collected) to make sure that the research is being done properly and the information held (such as contact details) is accurate.

People who do not need to know who you are will not be able to see your name or contact details. Your data will have a code number instead.

Imperial College London is the sponsor of this research and is responsible for looking after your information. We will keep this information about you safe and secure by:

- Data management plans have been created and reviewed in line with Imperial's Information Governance Policy Framework. This covers the collection, movement, processing and storage of the data.
- Data to be stored in a dedicated secure environment which underpins security measures.
- Robust pseudonymisation has been implemented to prevent identification
- Access controls have been implemented to ensure only key personnel can access the data.

Once we have finished the study, we will keep some of the data so we can check the results. We will write our reports in a way that no-one can work out that you took part in the study.

LEGAL BASIS

As a university we use personally-identifiable information to conduct research to improve health, care and services. As a publicly-funded organisation, we have to ensure that it is in the public interest when we use personally-identifiable information from people who have agreed to take part in research. This means that when you agree to take part in a research study, we will use your data in the ways needed to conduct and analyse the research study. Our legal basis for using your information under the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and the Data Protection Act 2018, is as follows:

- Imperial College London - “performance of a task carried out in the public interest”; Health and care research should serve the public interest, which means that we have to demonstrate that our research serves the interests of society as a whole. We do this by following the UK Policy Framework for Health and Social Care Research.

Where special category personal information is involved (most commonly health data, biometric data and genetic data, racial and ethnic data etc.), Imperial College London) relies on “scientific or historical research purposes or statistical purposes”.

INTERNATIONAL TRANSFERS

We may share data about you outside the UK for research related purposes to:

- Where necessary to provide access to a data processor / service provider who will utilise your personal data as instructed by us.

If this happens, we will only share the data that is needed. We will also make sure you can't be identified from the data that is shared where possible. This may not be possible under certain circumstances – for instance, if you have a rare illness, it may still be possible to identify you.

We will make sure your data is protected. Anyone who accesses your data outside the UK must do what we tell them so that your data has a similar level of protection as it does under UK law. We will make sure your data is safe outside the UK by doing the following:

- (some of) the countries your data will be shared with have an adequacy decision in place. This means that we know their laws offer a similar level of protection to data protection laws in the UK
- We use specific contracts which stipulates that personal data must maintain the same level of protection when outside the UK as it has within the UK. For further details visit the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) website - www.ico.org.uk
- We do not allow those who access your data outside the UK to use it for anything other than what our written contract with them says

- We have procedures in place to deal with any suspected personal data breach. For further details about UK breach reporting rules visit the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) website - Personal data breaches: a guide | ICO

SHARING YOUR INFORMATION WITH OTHERS

We will only share your personal data with certain third parties for the purposes referred to in this participant information sheet and by relying on the legal basis for processing your data as set out above.

- Other Imperial College London employees (including staff involved directly with the research study or as part of certain secondary activities which may include support functions, internal audits, ensuring accuracy of contact details etc.), Imperial College London agents, contractors and service providers (for example, suppliers of printing and mailing services, email communication services or web services, or suppliers who help us carry out any of the activities described above). Our third-party service providers are required to enter into data processing agreements with us. We only permit them to process your personal data for specified purposes and in accordance with our policies.
- the following Research Collaborators / Partners in the study
  - the recruiting research team at your NHS Trust
  - Your primary care doctor (GP) will be informed that you are taking part in this study any incidental findings relevant to your health will also be communicated to your GP.
  - The UK Health Research Authority
  - The UK National Institute for Health Research (NIHR)
  - The US National Institutes of Health
  - Other relevant UK and international academic institutions, Universities and research institutions where this would be required (as per reasons highlighted below). All these institutions will be required to enter into data processing agreements with us. We only permit them to process your personal data for specified purposes and in accordance with our policies.

POTENTIAL USE OF STUDY DATA FOR FUTURE RESEARCH

When you agree to take part in a research study, the information collected either as part of the study or in preparation for the study (such as contact details) may, if you consent, be provided to researchers running other research studies at Imperial College London and in other organisations which may be universities or organisations involved in research in this country or abroad. Your information will only be used to conduct research in accordance with legislation including the GDPR and the UK Policy Framework for Health and Social Care Research.

This information will not identify you and will not be combined with other information in a way that could identify you, used against you or used to make decisions about you.

WHAT ARE YOUR CHOICES ABOUT HOW YOUR INFORMATION IS USED?

You can stop being part of the study at any time, without giving a reason, but we will keep information about you that we already have.

You have the right to ask us to remove, change or delete data we hold about you for the purposes of the study. We might not always be able to do this if it means we cannot use your data to do the research. If so, we will tell you why we cannot do this.

WHERE CAN YOU FIND OUT MORE ABOUT HOW YOUR INFORMATION IS USED

You can find out more about how we use your information:

- by asking one of the research team
- by sending an email to c.luca@imperial.ac.uk or a.lalvani@imperial.ac.uk

COMPLAINT

If you wish to raise a complaint about how we have handled your personal data, please contact the research team first by sending an email to c.luca@imperial.ac.uk or a.lalvani@imperial.ac.uk.

Following our response, if you are not satisfied please contact Imperial College London's Data Protection Officer via email at dpo@imperial.ac.uk, via telephone on 020 7594 3502 and/or via post at Imperial College London, Data Protection Officer, Faculty Building Level 4, London SW7 2AZ.

If you remain unsatisfied with our response or believe we are processing your personal data in a way that is not lawful you can complain to the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO)- via www.ico.org.uk. Please note the ICO does recommend that you seek to resolve matters with the data controller (us) first before involving them.
