COLLEGE NOTICE

INTERIM VICE-PROVOST (EDUCATION AND STUDENT EXPERIENCE)

Professor Emma McCoy has accepted appointment as Interim Vice-Provost (Education and Student Experience) with effect from 1 July. She will start the role on a part-time basis until 1 September, when she will take up the position full time for a year.

Working closely and collaboratively with key colleagues, in this role Professor McCoy will be responsible for leading the delivery of the College's strategic aims for the provision of a world-class education for its students, the enrichment of its student experience and for delivering an 'Imperial education' which reflects the College's dynamic and enterprising culture. She will be responsible for enhancing the quality, impact, coordination and delivery of education at the College.

Professor McCoy first joined Imperial in 1994 as a Lecturer and was promoted to Senior Lecturer in 2005 and Professor in 2014. She has been Vice-Dean (Education) for the Faculty of Natural Sciences since 2017, and was previously Deputy Head and Interim Head of the Department of Mathematics. Over the last few months Professor McCoy has worked with the other Vice-Deans in the College's smooth transition to remote learning and assessment, and she has been instrumental in driving the changes needed to put in place effective and creative plans for the College's new education offering in 2020-21.

Professor McCoy's research interests include Time Series, Wavelets and Causal Interference, with a particular interest in Transport Studies. She is a Fellow of the Institute for Mathematics and its Applications and a Fellow of the Royal Statistical Society.
